Rattan: Everything You Need To Know For Home Decor

Rattan's natural aesthetic remains crucial in home decor and interior design, consistently appealing to consumers and designers. It's organic texture and warm tones seamlessly blend with various decor styles, offering a timeless and versatile option that enhances any space. The material's durability, eco-friendliness, and lightweight nature make it a practical choice for indoor and outdoor use, while its minimal maintenance requirements and affordability add to its widespread appeal.

Nature's Embrace Trend: A Harmonious Coexistence With Nature

At Mondoro, we're excited to share our latest trend: "Nature's Embrace." The Nature Embrace trend draws inspiration from the raw beauty of bamboo, rattan, wood, soil, and roots, crafting a palette that mirrors nature's elegance and encourages a harmonious coexistence with the environment. For us, it's all about deepening our connection with the natural world, allowing our designs to become an extension of nature.

Our Unique Approach to Home Decor Design: Using Procreate and 3D Design

At Mondoro, we believe we have developed a unique home decor and product design process. While our approach is tailored for home decor, it can easily be adapted for various other types of product design. Central to our process is the seamless integration of 3D shapes from Shapr3D into Procreate. This method not only streamlines our workflow but also enhances our creative capabilities.

How To Get Rid Of Urine Smell From Wood: Pet Owners & Caregivers

If you've ever shared your home with pets or cared for someone with incontinence, you're likely familiar with the challenge of lingering urine odors on furniture and wood floors. Before my father passed away, he had a catheter, and many times, the catheter would leak and get all over the wood floors and carpets.

Do Shipping Containers Ever Get Lost At Sea?

Sometimes a shipping container can get lost at sea. For the number of containers shipped each day, losing a cargo container is still relatively rare. Most reasons a container is lost at sea are due to weather-related incidents. The other reasons usually have to do with human error, such as lousy stowage or improper handling.

Is Apple's Overseas Service Really That Bad?

Join Anita on Global Trade Gal as she dives into the challenges of Apple's overseas service. I spend most of my time living and working in Hanoi, Vietnam, but even though I am here, I tend to buy many electronic products, including my Apple products, in the United States. I have always been a fan of Apple.
